Will EV charging stations be installed in Phnom Penh in 2022?

The Cambodian Ministry of Public Works and Transport (MPWT) is hoping to promote electric vehicles (EVs) in Phnom Penh and has again confirmed the installation of EV charging stations in 2022.

How many e-bike swap stations does oyika have in Phnom Penh & Jakarta?

Oyika currently runs 11 swap stations in Phnom Penh and 16 in Jakarta, with another 50 to be added soon. The company has teamed with seven undisclosed brands that provide the bikes. Its batteries are now powering 200 e-motorcycles in both countries, according to Lee.

Could battery swaps help a 'fear of running out of power' in Indonesia?

But drivers are still wary of going electric, mainly due to the lack of charging stations. Currently, Indonesia only has 37 stations run by state electricity company PLN. Battery swapping could help address the issue, according to Lee. "It removes range anxiety--the fear of running out of power," he said.

Is battery swapping a good idea in China?

Battery swapping has been a successful model in China, with Shanghai-based EV maker Nio as a trailblazer. Since the service was introduced in 2018, the company has completed 2 million swaps at its 193 stations. Demand continues to grow as it reduces the wait time for the drivers to just five minutes.

Will oyika's batteries work with a home docking system?

The batteries will be working with a home docking system that powers electrical appliances. Lee says he is working on this with PLN, which offers Oyika preferential electricity tariffs. The subscription fee for this service could be as low as USD 10 per month. The startup is also planning to expand to Vietnam.
