Las baterías nos proporcionan energía, incluso, cuando los paneles solares no generan energía, es decir, cuando está nublado o de noche.

Using a solar battery can help users to reduce the amount of electricity they would normally buy during peak hours. The battery can store the extra energy produced from solar panels during the day to avoid using electricity at a more expensive rate. The peak time-of-use (TOU) rates can be double the price compared to off-peak rates.
